OPERATION 36[®] GOLF

Coach Spotlight

GOLF PROGRAM SKYROCKETS WITH OPERATION 36

Matthew Meyer, who has been running the Operation 36 program for just one year, has achieved game-changing success at his facility. He has expanded to additional classes and continues to see remarkable growth and retention, both in his classes and in overall membership.

Why Operation 36?

“The program helps beginners start on the course by starting near the green and gradually working back to the tee box, easing their comfort level.

We love working with juniors, focusing on their skills around the green and progressively moving back to the tee box to help them lower scores and excel in tournaments.”

How It Went:

“When we decided to go all in with Operation 36, we signed up in August 2023 and had our first class in September. Not knowing how well it would fill up, we were thrilled when our membership jumped on the opportunity to join the program. In our first sessions, we had 8 ladies, 6 gentlemen, and nearly 20 juniors, leading us to add a second class due to the high demand.”

How It's Going:

Under Matt's guidance, the Freemont Hills Country Club program rapidly improved, showing the strength of a well-planned and executed learning strategy. The increase in the number of students and their continued interest proves the program's effectiveness. Matt's approach stands as an example that with the right program, your Junior and Adult academies can multiply when starting in the fall.
